Salvini has become disheartened in attempting to learn the English language, and has abandoned it forever.

It will require about $10,000,000 to equalize the bounties of soldiers as proposed by a measure now before congress.

Chicago has raised $15,000 for the flood sufferers. Boston does a little better than this, having made the contribution $75,000.

There are two cheering things connected with the flood at the present time. The water is receding and the contributions are increasing.

Young Allen has been captured, charged with the murder of the Wilson family at Winona. It is supposed that he had something to do with the murder.

There are a good many Arthur men who do not go into the business of blowing so early in the season. But they propose to strike hard when the time comes.

The Sheriff of Dallas County, Texas has gone to Kaufman with trained bloodhounds to run down a negro murderer. White murderers are never tracked in that manner.

It is said that the wife of a street-car driver in Chamberlain, South Carolina, is worth $300,000. She wisely makes her husband earn his own living, even by the hardship of driving a street-car.

The late Paul A. Chaudhury, formerly president of the Wisconsin University, spent his whole life in the interest of education and science, and died $40,000 in debt, with no assets to speak of save his library.

The cyclone in the south was the most destructive one ever known in this country. The corpos found are numbered by the hundreds, and the loss of property will reach many hundreds of thousands of dollars.

A democratic paper puts this conundrum: "Which is preferable—a government of rounders or a government of reformers?" Answering that from a democratic point of view, a government of rounders would be preferable.

It was at first thought that Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Bradley, of Milwaukee, met their sudden and simultaneous deaths by means of poison; but the inquest showed that heart disease produced the death of each almost exactly the same minute.

The friends of Colonel John Hay, and they are numbered by the thousands, will be glad to hear that he devies being the author of "The Bread-Winners." He once thought of running for congress, but never thought of writing such a story as "The Bread-Winners."

Canada is enthusiastic over the progress of the Canadian Pacific railway. The house of commons has passed a bill granting nearly $30,000,000 of aid to the Pacific railway. The government will subsidize a bridge over the St. Lawrence at Quebec to cost $5,000,000.

The republicans success at the municipal election in Philadelphia, is not difficult of explanation. The opposition tried to run a democrat for mayor under the color of reform. It was so ridiculous a procedure that the people sat down on it pretty heavily.

The national democratic convention will not be held till after the republicans hold theirs. The democrats never have the courage to hold the first convention. They always want to see what the republicans will do, and then frame their ticket accordingly. Such cowardice begets mistrust.

The report has been started that at the last reception at the white house, the president actually flirted with a beautiful young married lady. In the very heart of her corsage rested a splendid Jacqueline rose, and on the lippel of the president was displayed a handsome Marshal Neil. The beautiful young lady touched this with her fan, and the president torched the Jacqueline with his finger. They sat down near each other and smiled and talked. The Marshal Neil was exchanged for the Jacqueline rose, and the Jacqueline for the Marshal Neil. The young lady blushed beautifully, and the president kissed his newly-begotten rose. How bewitching is the beauty of woman, and how like other mortals a president can be!

The following railway news from the State Journal shows what the Wisconsin Central is doing in the way of extending its lines: The formal announcement that the Wisconsin Central will extend its line, this year, from Chippewa Falls to St. Paul, comes coupled with the report that surveyors are running a line from Schlesinger'sville to Chicago, and that some unknown company will build a new road between those points, next summer, a distance of 118½ miles, via Waukesha and Mukwonago. As Schlesinger'sville is the southern terminus of the Central, it would seem very possible that the Central was at the bottom of this latter enterprise. The Central is an energetic organization, and making money, and a clean sweep from Chicago to St. Paul, Asieland and Superior, would make it a very important road, particularly as it seems to be agreed that the company is in very close business relations with the Northern Pacific.

Governor Jackson, of West Virginia, who, of course, is a democrat, is a protectionist, and when the wool-growers of that state held a meeting at Wheeling on the 20th, he was called to address them, and in his speech he took occasion to say:

Before I was a democrat I was a whig, and the good whig ideas of protection were very deeply ground into me, and I think all of it has not been ground out. West Virginia has been but slightly developed. I am not one of those who believe in tariff for revenue only. A tariff is necessary. We must have a tariff that will protect our state interests—one that will protect its life.

While this is the doctrine of the republican party, it is also the idea of a very large majority of the democrats of this state. Politics should have nothing to do with this matter.

This is another piece of evidence that the democratic party is all "broke up" on the tariff question. It is just as Carter Harrison says, the tariff question is bound to be the death of the democratic party. With one faction going and another faction having on that subject, while the republicans are putting straight ahead, it is not difficult to see which party will get left.

A strange-minded woman—who lived on Long Island died a few days ago. She was humble in life from force of circumstances, but was determined to be pompous in death. She denied herself of the good things of life that she might save money enough to pay the expenses of a grand funeral. She was never married, lived alone, worked hard, and year after year she resolutely saved her earnings with which to pay for pomp and show when her poor body was being carried to the grave. She directed that she should be clothed in a suit of white and that her body should then be placed in a solid rose-wood coffin, with six silver handles and a silver plate bearing her name and age. The hearse was to be driven by six horses, and there were to be six pall-bearers, with white gloves and white scarfs. She had saved $1,200 by rigid economy by the time she was ready for the funeral; and if anything was left after paying these bills, the balance was paid to some one for keeping flowers on her grave. Her funeral was held and her directions strictly complied with, a kind-hearted minister being executor and contracted the debts in furnishing funeral items. But since then her will has been declared void, and the expenses will be paid by the friends of the minister who contracted the debts in providing for the funeral. So after all, like her mother and father, she was buried by public charity, although in a more pompous way.

Mr. Clinton Babbitt, secretary of the State Agricultural society, thinks that Milwaukee will have to raise $15,000 to properly fit up grounds for the state fair, exhibition in that city, and have the accommodations as ample as those already at Madison. Milwaukee is endeavoring to raise $10,000, but Mr. Babbitt says this will not do, and whether Milwaukee will be generous enough to subscribe $15,000, is a question. The Gazette has heretofore expressed the opinion that so far as financial success is concerned, Milwaukee would be the better place to hold the fair. The city is so much larger than Madison and therefore having more attractive features that thousands would go there and attend the fair who would not go to a much smaller place. And yet one can plainly see why the officers of the State Agricultural society would have doubts in regard to the wisdom of holding the exhibition in that city. Milwaukee has been somewhat hostile to the state fair. During the past two or three years its conduct has been hardly less than contemptuous toward the "traveling pumpkin show" as the Evening Wisconsin called it. But that has all passed, Milwaukee has repented, and now would like to have the next exhibition held in that city. Having nothing but the best interests of the society in view, the Gazette has thought for some time that Milwaukee is the proper place to locate the fair. It stands to reason that a city of 140,000, is a better place than one of 10,000, at which to hold a state fair, and yet if Milwaukee will not raise the $15,000 which Mr. Babbitt says will be necessary to place the grounds and buildings in proper condition, then Madison should have it, and every farmer and manufacturer in the state should put forth every effort to make it the most successful fair ever held in the state.

KEEP IT BEFORE THE PEOPLE.
NORTHWESTERN TRAVELER,
Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 22, 1884.

DEAR SIR—I see by an extract from your paper, published in the Sentinel this morning, that you realize the importance of keeping the "Tariff Issue" before the people. The impotent lassitude of our leading republican journals on the tariff question, and the Micsawber-like conduct of those editors, waiting to see what will be turned up by the democrat, or what blunders they may make, is truly disgusting to every true republican. Some of those journals, more particularly in Milwaukee, have already favored free trade, in many products, that would cause great injury to the farmers, so much so that many farmers beginning to consider the question, whether they have or have not, as many friends among the democrats, as many of whom are opposed to free trade, as among the republicans, who are like the dog in the fair, in and out on the tariff question, one day being one thing and another day another thing.

It would puzzle a Philadelphia lawyer to decide which side those republican papers take on the wool-tariff question. I have been the recipient of many letters from farmers asking me to tell them, and my replies have been that I was unable to decide.

Respectfully Yours,
John W. Linton.

HORRORS PILED UP.

Awful Details of the Late Ruin in the South.

The Track of the Devastator Tragedy with Corpses.

Wounds and Death Scattered Broadcast Through the Land—The List of Victims Growing and the Destruction Immense.

through the country and across the gulf without sustaining serious injuries.

North Carolina.

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 22.—Details of the destruction wrought by Tuesday night's cyclone come in hourly, each revealing new fields of devastation and death. In Johnston County the storm raged with frightful violence. The country looked like a vast pine forest, through which the cyclone moved south, sweeping away from the center to half a mile wide. Houses were wrecked, and men, women and children are out in the cold, half naked and without food.

From Rockingham, where the largest loss of life occurred, full details are being received. The court-house has been converted into a hospital for the dead and wounded. It is reported that forty persons have thus far been brought there, twenty-five of them dead, sixteen being colored, whose names have not yet been learned. The names of the whites dead are: Richard Hawkins, Mrs. Hawkins, Mr. and Mrs. Avery Sanford, Mr. and Mrs. Grant and their children, Mrs. David Watson and one child, Mr. John Stewart, Mr. Ashbury Sanford, Miss Annie Watson, and Mr. Robert Watson are perhaps partially injured.

From Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 22.—News continues pouring in from remote portions of the country regarding the results of the terrible cyclone at Jacksonville, two and a half miles below this city. In the mountain region the ravages of the tornado were terrific. The storm first struck this section near Smith's Corner, sweeping away the houses and trees. Going northeast, after trampling two miles, it struck a mountain and changed its course, going then almost east for several miles, in its destruction sweeping away many houses. The sufferers in this section are very poor people of the class, and everything they had on earth, except little patches of mountainous land, has been swept from them. Their houses are all gone, cows, mules, sheep, sheep and chickens, were all blown into the air.

Survivors tell the most heartbreaking stories. In Marshall County a mother and child were blown into a swamp and killed. In the same swamp a baby was found half dead with cold and soon died. The wounds of the dead are most horrible. Heads are crushed flat, immense splinters driven through bodies, others were impaled on broken trees, forced into piles of logs, or had their intestines torn out. There are but a few features of the ghastly scene. Kind people are lending aid of all kinds and doing heroic work.

The destruction of farm property is unpardonable.

The estimate now is that not less than sixty and perhaps 100 lives were lost in the state. Six persons were buried in one grave at Rockingham.

At Marion one man was killed and two injured.

At Marion two persons were killed, and the southern portion of the city completely wrecked.

At Cross Plains eight persons were killed and fifty wounded, some fatally.

At Stock's Mills five persons were buried. Many are dying, and there are a large number of injured.

At Tuckel Williams' house was blown away.

At Stock's Mills five persons were buried. Many are dying, and there are a large number of injured.

Jones county comes up with a frightful list of casualties. Two people were killed outright by the storm and fully fifty wounded in various ways. Gus Hunt and six negroes were killed by the falling of a house in which they sought protection. A white man named Edmundson was blown into a well and drowned before relief could be given him.

At Tuckel Williams' house was blown away.

Reliable reports state that on the line of Chickasaw and Pickens counties, within a radius of three miles, twenty-two persons were killed and forty wounded. No details occurred in other counties, contiguous to Atlanta.

The cyclone blew down the residence of Col. Hambors, in Paton county, dangerously wounding him.

At Rockingham, in Jones county, Mr. P. F. Pashel, who took refuge in his house, was instantly killed; also seven negroes. Nearly all the stock on the farm was killed.

At Rockingham the residence of F. C. Moore was blown down and completely wrecked. All of the family, numbering five, are missing, and it is suggested that probably they were killed in the storm. The house was not at home when the storm came, and in that way they may have been saved. Another theory is, that the whole family is buried under the ruins and will be found there after the wreck is removed.

These are only a few instances that go to show the destruction of life by the cyclone. There is no doubt that fully 300 people were killed in Georgia by the storm, and fully three times that number wounded, many of them seriously. The destruction to property will reach $2,000,000, and in every respect the cyclone which is just passed over this section of the state is the most disastrous that has visited Georgia in twenty-five years.

At New Blountsboro, in Jones county, Mr. Miller and his four children, also Miss Hunt and six negroes were killed, and one body blown away. Station No. 12, on the Central Railroad, was swept away, and a Mr. Divine killed there. Several persons were killed in Jackson, Butts county. At Davison, on the Central railroad, every house was blown down, William Vardon, in charge of the woodshed, was killed, and Mrs. J. W. Hudson probably fatally wounded. At Hudson's station, on the Macon & Brunswick railroad, eleven lives were lost and there was great destruction of property. Near Lincolnton, in Jones county, Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Pashel were killed.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Notwithstanding the report of merchants on the street, that the sale of 5-cent sheeting was busted, M. C. Smith is still selling the regular branded Janesville sheeting at 5 cents; a much better article than the bogus no-brand imperfect goods that parties are trying to get rid of at 6/4 cents. The beauty of it is, they cannot sell them as long as M. C. Smith is selling better goods at 5 cents.

The grand free street parade will commence to toot at eight o'clock to-morrow morning and march straight to the great closing sale of boots and shoes at Hemming's old stand.

Don't forget to shoot for the prizes at the Rifles Gallery, at No. 26 East Milwaukee street.

The great sale of boots and shoes at Hemming & Sons' old stand, will commence with a boom to-morrow. Everything at or below cost and the goods are all first-class; be on time.

Ordon H. Fether, Esq., returned home last evening from Chicago and Milwaukee.

"McSorley's Inflation" is the next entertainment at the opera house, Feb. 23rd.

Our citizens, who happened to be on Milwaukee street bridge and on Main street in the neighborhood of the Myers house at one o'clock this afternoon, were treated to a very lively and exciting foot race, one not previously advertised. The race all grew out of a fight, or knock-down in Mr. Wiss's barber shop, opposite the post office. It will be remembered that a horse race took place on South Main street some three or four weeks ago, out of which there sprung considerable ill-feeling between the drivers. To-day these drivers met at the above place, when Nick McAleer, one of the drivers, struck Josh Corning several blows in the face, cutting his face very badly, and causing the blood to flow freely. Sheriff Harper, who was at that time standing in front of the post office, noticed considerable excitement in the barber shop, and went over to ascertain the trouble; as he approached the door Mr. McAleer came out, and started for the east side of the river. The sheriff took in the situation, and supposing that a pistol had been used took after McAleer, who saw the sheriff coming and started on a fast run. At this the sheriff, who was handicapped with heavy overboots, and still heavier overcoat, undertook to catch him. Away the two went, for all the speed and wind they possessed. The sheriff was a little the best man, and had there been an opportunity offered, both could have been made of two to one in his favor. On reaching Main street, both parties took the center of the streets, but the fugitive made good his escape by running through Jackson's barn and hiding from view. The sheriff insists that he can find his man when he wants him, and would not have entered the race, had he been made acquainted with all the facts at first. Mr. Corning went to Dr. Chittenden's office where his wounds were attended to. He is very badly out and bruised in the face, and the affair will probably all be settled in the municipal court.

Our Present Blessings.

Our blessings are not appreciated until we are deprived of them. Most noticeable among them is health, the lack of which magnifies our other burdens.

A hacking cough, a severe cold or any.

But all these may be quickly and permanently removed by Dr. Bigelow's Positive Cure. Trial bottles free, of Druggists.

Papillon Skin Cure, Papillon Cuticular Cure, Papillon Cough Cure, manufactured by the Papillon Manufacturing Co. of Chicago, Ill., and advertised in this paper is for sale by Palmer & Stevens and Prentice & Evenson.

Every Stable.

Nelson Bros., corner of Court and Park streets, at the east end of the lower bridge, keep a first class livery stable.

Any one in want of a good rig will do well to call on them. They also furnish horses and carriages for funerals at a reasonable rate.

Why suffer with Malaria? ENIGY STANDARD Cures Pills are infallible, never fail to cure the most obstinate cases; surely vegetable. 25 cents.

Roadster Triumph.

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 22.—The seats of the Norfolk representatives in the state senate and the house of delegates having been declared vacant by those bodies, an account of irregularities in the November election, an election was held in this city to fill the vacancies, when the Readjuster ticket was elected by at least 800 votes. This will fill the vacancies in the state legislature in the house, arising from the Democratic nominees in the Fourth ward very insolent, and make incendiary remarks, threatening to burn out muskets and burn the Democratic ward superintendent's house.

Judgment for Gen. Sherman.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 22.—Gen. William T. Sherman has recovered judgment before Judge Conner against Clement L. English for $1,050 on a note, and now account of a mortgage on a house in Cincinnati. English, defendant, in a celebrated case recently tried, in which his alibi daughter, Fella, recovered a judgment against him for $2,200 for slander. She claimed that English was her father, and he disclaimed her as a blackmailer. It is believed she exonerated that suit led to his financial ruin.

More About Gordon.

CANTON, Feb. 22.—Gen. Gordon reported to have assured Col. Costigan that he and the European residents will now be as safe in Canton as they would be in London.

BIT OF ALL WE COULD CHEW.

HUNTER'S POINT, L. I., Feb. 22.—During a bar-room fight between John McDonald, the bartender, and John Scanlon, the latter bit off the nose and part of the eelk of the former. A man named McGaugh interfered, when Scanlon chewed two of his fingers off.

Cable Steamer Disbanded.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—The steamer Faraday, engaged in laying the Mackay cables, has put into Plymouth with her propeller broken and other damage. She will probably be towed to London for repairs.

Our readers will find all the medicines advertised in the paper at Prentice & Evenson's drug store, opposite the post office. They keep all the principal patent medicines in the market, and doubtless will have the largest stock in the city.

A Rare Opportunity for Bargains.

The attention of our readers is called to the advertisement of Mr. C. S. Jackson in another column of this paper.

The sale of boots and shoes which he advertises, is genuine, as he is not in the business, and does not propose to be after this deal is closed. The goods offered are as represented, and will be sold at very low prices. Mr. D. W. Watt, so long and favorably known here, will have charge of the stock until sold.

A Quiet Recovery.

It gives me great pleasure to state that the mulatto who was reported to be at the point of death from an attack of pneumonia, has entirely recovered by the use of DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. Naturally he is a weak and feeble child, but he has made a rapid recovery, and is now a strong and healthy boy.

The following is a copy of the letter of Dr. Hall's Balsam.

grave mistake had been made in selecting the bone. That bone was shipped to him from the Ohio river, and that the bone was all right for that latitude, but that the mistake was not discovered until it was too late to rectify the matter. He stated, however, that next season he would be more particular, and secure a genuine Wisconsin goose bone, and then he would prove to the members of the club that the goose bone was all right. The club adjourned without further action, perfectly satisfied with the explanation, and willing to await results. The next question to be decided is "bait," and how to secure it.

The people's remedy for Billings, Constantine, Cough, SICK HEADACHE,

Jawache, etc., is Alice's Bilous Phisic, a regularly registered liquid remedy; large bottle, 25 cents. At all druggists.

An exciting Foot Race.

Our citizens, who happened to be on Milwaukee street bridge and on Main street in the neighborhood of the Myers house at one o'clock this afternoon, were treated to a very lively and exciting foot race, one not previously advertised. The race all grew out of a fight, or knock-down in Mr. Wiss's barber shop, opposite the post office.

The race was all won by the Myers house.

The school children are enjoying Washington's birthday, there being no schools in session in the city.

The Bohemian glass blowers are visited by large numbers of our citizens, who are pleased with the exhibition.

Mr. James Gould, and his sister, Miss M. E. Gould.

Miss Elois Severance, daughter of the professor, will be at the dancing school on Wednesday evening.

Mr. J. E. Bailey, of the firm of Harris & Bailey, this city, has been visiting relatives in Colborn, Ontario, for the past two months, has returned home.

Mr. A. Austin Lowell, residing on High street, yesterday received a very bad wound on one of his legs, by a kick from a horse. The leg was cut and bruised very badly, but no bones were broken.

Little "Rob," the household pet of Mr. O. H. Fether, has stayed away from home since yesterday morning. His return will be rewarded by many thanks, etc.

There was considerable sport on South Main street this afternoon, and a large number of people were out to witness the "spoeing" of some fast horses. The street was in good condition for fast driving, and some of the trotters made good time.

The Jefferson Banner: "Mr. Ward, of Janesville, is putting another water wheel in the woolen mill, so that there will be sufficient power in time of high water below the dam."—Of course, that means Mr. D. C. Ward, our No. 1 millwright.

Those who attended the Chittenden reception last evening in Cannon's hall speak in high terms of the excellent music rendered by Foot & Bridges' quadrille band of Fort Atkinson. The band consisted of five musicians, all of whom played their parts in a first class manner.

Ex-Sheriff H. L. Skylor is getting to be quite an expert in taxidermy. He has "put up" several fine specimens of birds this winter, and a day or two ago received a fine "jack rabbit" from Dakota, which he has stuffed and mounted in fine style. The rabbit can now be seen at Heimstreet's drugstore, Main street.

On Monday evening the members of the Catholic Cornet band will give a grand dancing party in the Rifles armory. John M. Smith's quadrille band, which has been playing the entire winter in Iowa, Nebraska and Dakota, will furnish the music, and a grand good time will be the result. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Don't forget that the Bohemian glass blowers give their last entertainment here to-morrow. If you have not already seen the exhibition, do not
